Personal :

1) My name is Noé Im 20 years old and I live in Paris. Im fascinate since my childhood by computer science, I have always been interested in this, that's why doing an engineering course was obvious to me. In fact Iam studying in the engineering school efrei paris which transmits to me essential values for the success of an engineer such as the mastery of hard skills and soft skills. Otherwise, I am passionate about sports since I was 3 years old. I played competitive tennis for over 13 years and practiced different team sport like Badminthon or Volley-Ball. It brought me a lot of human skills like stress management with all the national competitions I did in tennis as well as team work with collective sports being essential values in working life. All this made me want to join your company, I am motivated to work in a team on projects related to IT.

3- My life in my youth has been mainly punctuated by tennis, so my main events/decisions are related to this sport. The most important decision I had to make in my life was to decide to stay in a traditional school program or to join a sport study program. Indeed it would have a big impact on my life because it involves a lot of sacrifice and investment. But I was determined and I wanted to improve myself, so I joined a sport study program at the age of 11. I don't regret this decision at all because it taught me a lot of values and the awareness of working hard to achieve one's goals.

My second most important decision in my life was to choose my orientation after the baccalaureate, whether I would study sports or computer science. Indeed, besides sports, I am very involved in computer science and in the engineering profession in general, so I had to choose between two branches that I was passionate about. I had been doing sports intensively for more than 15 years, and I needed to discover new experiences: I therefore chose to study engineering, which was quite new to me despite my interest in science and computer science.

Finally, one of the decisions I regret the most today was to completely stop the sport. Indeed, after having practiced for years, I thought I had done it all and I wanted to invest myself fully in my studies. But I had forgotten that sport had forged my personality and accompanied me throughout my life, so I lived 2 years during which I was not really happy with a feeling of inner emptiness. I have learned from my mistakes and recently returned to the sport, I now feel much better and comfortable in my decisions and behavior. All this has made me understand what is really important for me to be fulfilled

Education :

2) I am interested in cybersecurity, computer security has always interested me and I find that it is a very important subject and even indispensable nowadays. More and more companies are affected by cyber attacks and lose more and more money, the demand is very high -> the jobs in cyber security are expanding. I would like to work later as a hacker who acts for the good of companies by entering their computer system and detect potential flaws. I'm less interested in electronics jobs, in fact I'm more interested in those that are mainly computer related.

3) I feel good in my higher education, I work on subjects that I like and that serve me for my future work. The subjects I prefer the most are those related to computer science and mathematics. Indeed, these are subjects that I have worked very assiduously for a long time and that I am passionate about. Moreover, I have more trouble on the subjects related to physics, indeed I find it at times less logical and attractive but it is not so much that I leave them aside. As a future engineer I owe it to myself to have the most scientific knowledge even if it does not necessarily affect my field of interest.

Job-Company :

1) I am interested in this area because it touches on my main focus: cybersecurity. I think this is a very important topic in business that should not be neglected, I am aware of the responsibility I will have to assume and I will give my best to protect the industry. Your company interests me mainly because you have values to which I am very attached such as your commitment to the environment and the fight against malice on the Internet, I find that you are very thoughtful and committed.

4 - I mainly judge a company on its CSR commitment because I find that it is a vital topic that guarantees essential values for the prosperity of a company. In addition, openness to the world is very important to me because it shows that society is open to the world around it and is able to work with people. I mainly judge a company on its CSR commitment because I find that it is a vital topic that guarantees essential values for the prosperity of a company. In addition, openness to the world is very important to me because it shows that society is open to the world around it and is able to work with people

Location :

2) If I like my job, I don't really see any downside to moving. I am open-minded and if I have the opportunity to discover new things it totally suits me. The only constraint I could have would be to leave too far from my family and friends, I am not against going to a destination far enough from my place of birth but I must have the possibility to see them during my days off
3) As mentioned earlier, I am an open-minded person and I am not against travelling to other countries. Discovering new cultures is essential for my own personal development and my values